The Engagement at Philippi.

Correspondence of the Wheeling Intelligencer. GRAFTON, June 3. Yesterday morning at ten o'clock four regiments left here in two divisions—one A FRESH arrival of the above goods, embracing all the command of Col. Kelley; the other A the Indiana 9th and Ohio 14th, commanded by Col. Lander, of Indian fighting, Col. Kelley's division moved past by railroad to Thornton, a small way station five miles distant from here. Thence they marched to Philippi, a distance of twenty-two miles. The Indiana regiment moved out the N. W. Virginia Railroad to Webster, where they were joined by the Ohio 14th, from > and mud. It was a terrible undertaking, ness of his legs would permit, and, as feat but they all went bravely through it, un-shrinkingly and without complaint. All night they toiled on through the darkness and storm, the soft earth yielding beneath their feet, till the gray dawn found them in the neighborhood of the enemy. Col. Lander reports that as they neared

Philippi they were discovered by a woman, who fired at him twice, and who sent her little boy across the hills (as he afterwards found) to apprise the enemy of their approach. He arrived on the hill accross the river from and below Philippi, commanding the town and encampment (just below the town) a little before daylight this morn ing. They at once planted two pieces of artillery on the brow of the hill just above the camp, and prepared to open on them when the time arrived. Four o'clock was to be made simultaneously by both divis-

Col. Kelly was to attack them in the rear and cut off their retreat, while Col. Lander would assault them in front. But Col. Kel-ley's division was behind the appointed hour, owing to the terrible fatigue of their forced march of twenty-two miles; and, in addition to this, they missed their point, and insetad of coming in on the Beverly road, above Philippi, and effectually cutting off all retreat, they came in, when they did come, just below the town. When the day began to dawn upon the impatient forces of Col. Lander, it discovered to them the camp below in a state of commotion, evidently in great alarm and preparing for flight. The hour appointed or the attack came and passed, but still Col. Kelley's division had not arrived. patient to begin the attack, and fearful that the rascals, almost within his grasp, should escape without smelling powder, Col. Lander ordered the artillery to begin the attack, and at a quartor past four the guns were unlimbered and dropped the first messengers of terror into the rebel camp, less than a quarter of a mile away. Simultaneously with the roar of the first gan, Col. Kelley at the head of his command, came in sight across the river below the camp, and com-prehending the position of affairs, they rushed forward at once in the direction of the

Meanwhile, the battery, having, after the first shot or two, got an accurate range, played upon the camp with marked effect, tearing through tents and houses at a fearful rate. This the chivalry couldn't stand, and they scattered like rats from a burning barn. They had no time to retreat in order. They didn't even retreat at all-they ran, fled most ingloriously-ran like sheep in every direction that promised safety, of ter firing at random and scattering volleys which did no damage whatever. Col. Kel which did no damage whatever. ley's command was close after, the Virginia troops in advance, the Henry Clay Guard in front, and Col. Kelley and Capt. Fordyce leading. At the same time Col. Lander's force came rushing down the hill to the bridge, and they all put out after the fugi-

But the legs of the fugitive chivalry served them too well, and they could not be overtaken by our already exhausted men, who, after chasing them a couple of miles, returned to the evacuated camp, to learn the painful fact that their victory, though complete, was dearly, too dearly bought. Col. Kelley, who, with a bravery amounting to rashness, was foremost from first to last, was rallying his men in the upper part o the town, the enemy having apparently all fled, when he fell by a shot from a foe concealed behind a fence or in a house; some say the assailant fired from behind a wagon, others that Col. Kelley was pressing him hard with a view of capturing him, when he wheeled and fired. This is not substantiated. At any rate, the shot was fired after the engagement was over, and was just such a piece of assassination as that by which fell the loved and lamented Ellsworth. The assassin was an assistant quarter master in the confederate force. His name is Simms, and he hails from Chesterfield, across the river from Richmond. He was immediately seized, and it is a great wonder they did not make mince of him instanter. The pistol with which he shot Kelley is an old-fashioned old Virginia horse-pistol, carrying a very large ball and inflicting a most dangerous wound. The ball entered the left breast, and passing clear through lodged beneath the skin, just underneath the shoulder blade. It has been extracted, and every attention of the highest medical and surgical skill is lavished upon the wounded officer. If human skill can save him he will be saved, but if he is beyond the reach of human aid he will die, as he said to-day to a friend who bent over his couch, in a just and glorious cause. "I expect I shall die," said the colonel; "I would be glad to live if it might be, that I might do something for my country, but if cannot be I shall have, at least, the consolation of knowing that I fall in a just cause." In the gray, uncertain light of the morning, it was impossible to tell anything about the loss of the enemy, as they carried away in their flight whatever killed and wounded they may have had. They will bury them secretly, I suppose, as they did on Sullivan's Island. It is very certain that somebody was hart, and right badly, too. A leg, which had been torn off by a cannon ball, was picked up in the camp. There was a good deal of blood upon the ground, and all along the road in the direction of the flight, on the fences, and on everything in the way of the indiscriminate retreat. Hats, blankets, cloaks, and every imaginable description of luggage, were scattered along the road for more than a mile. I saw one Janesville, May 8th, 1860.

the road for more than a mile. I saw one of the secession hats, with a veritable cockade, which a chap was wearing around town to-day with a great deal of gusto. The hat and epauletts of Col. Potterfield, the hat and epauletts of Col. Potterfield, the secession commander, were picked up in BURNING Finld, Comphene and Lamp Oils, at COLWELL & CO'S. the road. The head and the man he was and

The rebels left behind some forty horses, all their provisions, their baggage and camp equipage, and a good many hundsome uni forms, together with some 440 stand of arms, all of which fell into the hands of the victors. Several prisoners were taken besides Simme-among them D. M. Auvil prosecuting attorney, and the long looked for, taken at last, Col. Willey, of burnt-bridge fame. He professes to be terribly unwell, and he ought to be, if he fully appreciates his situation. Captain Robiuson in the West, and without any superior in Wisconsin of the Logan Guards, had the honor of making the capture. Col. Willey's com-mission from the confederate authorities, with some interesting correspondence, was found upon his person.

Several hats apparently belonging to officers, were picked up, and a horse and bug-gy, belonging to B. F. Martin, a Prunytown lawyer and defeated secession candidate for the legislature, were part of the spoils.— Thos. Sargnor, "the inimitable Tom," as Bill Cooper used to style him, "Captain of which place they pushed forward on foot to the Barbour forces," as he styles lumself, Philippi, twelve miles distunt. The march of the two divisions was per- at the first approach of danger, made formed last night through darkness, rain tracks; he ran with all the speed the short lent him wings, he managed to get out of barm's way.

The American flag has taken the place of the secession emblem in all the houses of Phillippi. Several of these piratical flags were captured. The people were coming in from the country, and expressing their gladness at the change of colors.

Note than on our side, so for as heavy! Not a man on our side, so far as heard from, except Col. Kelly, was hurt.

A detachment of Ohio troops went out to Phillippi this afternoon, under Col. Audrews, who will take command there.

Popular Feeling in England.

In what we have said in regard to the position of the government of England on our national troubles, we have expressly excepted the mass of the people of that country from the charge of hostility to us. Away from the seaport and manufacturing towns there appears to be a hearty sympathy with the north. We have not a doubt that the majority of the English people desire our success in putting down the groundless and inexcusable rebellion which now exists at the south. They have a quick eye for justice, and see what is right or wrong with intuitive perception. Their national characteristic is that law and order shall be sustained, and they deprecate rebellions upon general principles.

But the English people are cursed with a ruling class, which is as selfish and overbearing as the same class in the southern states of this country. The people do not govern in England, but permit a hereditary nobility to rule for them. Hence their sympathies are repressed and thwarted. This is done by cunning and intrigue on the part of the nobility, who are educated to their

Many of the people are now deluded with the specious neutrality of the queen's proclamation. They think it is fair to be neuthis neutral manifesto of the queen's govment of the nationality of the southern confederacy, which no other government of the world has seen fit to make. The English government stands alone in this, and we have rightly concluded that they are hostile to us, and mean to continue to be if they dare. They do not like our republican government, they desire to monopolize commerce and manufactures, and America is in their way. This is the cause of their enmity to us, who should be the natural allies of the English people. This, however, never can be the case until they cast off this detestable aristocracy whom they serve.

If any Englishman is sensitive at the criternment, let him remember that we are now fighting for the existence of our republican threatened by a conspiracy of free booters and pirates, who have no good cause for quarrel, but who mean to put down free principles and set up in their stead a government of force, whose corner stone is human slavery, and whose nobility will be the slave holder. When he sees this, he cannot condemn us who denounce a treacherous and heartless government, though it be that of his mother country, which thus in the hour of our struggle for the preservation of all we hold dear, puts even a feather in the scale of the enemy.

How they are Treated.—A correspondent of the Quincy Republican, writing from Cairo, says :-- " Occasionally, a secessionist, who has been spotted before he his letters of marque. reached Cairo, is brought into headquarters. A few evenings ago one was before the general; it was believed that he had been enlisting men at St. Louis for the south he was traveling south, and was requested to take the oath of fealty to the United States, and that he would not bear arms against the government. This he declined. "Will you, then, give your parole of honor as a gentleman, that you will not fight ngainst the United States. If you fight in this contest, which side will you fight for ?" "I will fight for the south!" "Will you take the oath, or give your parole, sir?" "No. sir, I will do neither." "Then, sir, in five minutes you will be wheeling dirt on the fortifications." And he was.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.] NEW YORK, June 11. Tribune's despatch.—A letter received rom aboard the Anacosta says: We are in hourly expectation of orders to attack Pig Point battery, in conjunction with the Harriet Lane and Cumberland. They also expected to pay a visit to Sewall's Point and Craney Island. A warm time was auticipated. An army officer who had an interview with Gen'i Scott yesterday, states he was positively informed by him that no attack upon the positions of the enemy would be made until fortifications around Washington shall be entirely finished, and guns mounted.

It appears that Arlington Heights were on the point of being attacked on Monday night. One of Lieut. Tomkins' company came in towards midnight to the camp of the 69th regiment, reporting the enemy coming in force with cavalry, infantry and artillery, at a distance of only two miles. Our troops formed in line of battle, but for some cause unknown the rebels concluded. at the last moment, to defer their project and withdraw.

Col. VanAllen's regiment of cavalry, 990 rank and file, has been accepted to be ready for active service Sept. 1st.

The order recalling Harvey goes out in Wednesday's steamer. Were not all our ships of war absolutely required for the blockade he would be brought home in a man-of-war, a prisoner. Under the circumstances he will be allowed to choose his own conveyance to America. His guilt is ienied in some quarters, but this is useless as the evidence is overwelming.

At 3 o'clock this morning a large force marched through Georgetown towards Point of Rocks. The combined forces in conunction with Patterson's column and per-naps McClellan's will effectually surround Harper's Ferry. Intelligence deemed trustworthy shows that the rebels are retreating from Har-per's Ferry. It seems that the robels received early news of the movement of troops from Washington. It is doubtful whether our columns can combine in sea on to make a large capture there. Rebels mean to make a stand at, and perhaps an attack from Manassas Junction, which is according to reports received by government, strongly fortified. The cannon are in a semi-circle, in the center of which is the railroad station.

The rebels talk about flanking the Washington lines and capturing the city directly without going around by Baltimore, sure that place would rise in a moment if the apital was taken. We have further confirmation of the disaffection at Harper's Ferry. Three companies refused to serve under any flag but the stars and stripes. They are probably Kentuckians who hold the Maryland heights and who if previous statements can be beieved, will turn their guns against the rebels of whom they are the nominal allies. WASHINGTON, June 10.

This has been a day of anxious expec ation. It is reported that the evacuation of Harper's Ferry by the rebel forces has already begun. It is known that the policy of such a step has received serious considerations eration from the rebels. "Let me tell you what I omitted to say at the time, and that is, that there were not less than 150 men, armed to the teeth, in the court room, on the day set for hearing the returns in the case of Merryman, with concentrated around Harper's Ferry and the avowed intent of rescuing him had he the movement will hardly stop south of been brought into court. Among these armed men were some of the most prominent men of the city, who, in ordinary times, would have scorned being caught in such company."

AN ARMY WORM TALE. - We have heard some prodigious stories of the army worm, but the following from the Louisville Courier is the last and landest :-

"A conductor on the Nashville railroad informed us, a few days ago, that his train was stopped by an emigration of army worms crossing the track. They were over an inch thick on the track, and the wheels of the locomotive when they came upon their midst, whirled round and round, as the track was covered with ice, and would not move an inch forward. The train was backed out and the track cleared of the worms with shovels."

H. M. WHEELER, Captain. Janesville, June, 11, 1861.

Sworn In .- Capt. Wheeler's company, the Light Guard, was sworn into service yesterday afternoon, by Col. Cobb, the commander of the regiment to which the company is attached. Fighty-five members took the oath, and we wh! venture the prediction that no company in the state is composed of a better body of men, or men who, under all circumstances, in camp or in the field, will deport themselves with more bravery or propriety.

These eighty-five men were all that were mustered at the time, several members being absent on furlough. Not a man was rejected by the surgeon, and not a man declined taking the oath.

Col. Cobb left this city this morning for Milwaukee to muster and swear in other companies for his regiment; and will retern here next Friday to administer the oath to such other members of the Light Guard as may then be prepared to enter the service.

Zouaves remember that your officers are to be elected to-night. The roll will be called at $\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock precisely. GAGE BURGESS, Sec'y.

MILITARY ITEMS .- The governor has commissioned Hoel K. Lawrence, of Madison as Assistant Quartermaster General, with the rank of Colonel.

The following surgeons have been commissioned:

papers are making heaps of money. Publishers are supposed to be coining dollars, and a prosperous newspaper is regarded as of the doctors. a mint. Advertising is the life blood of newspaper and there has been a falling off in this department of fifty and in some ed at least twenty-five per cent. There is but a small margin of profit on the sales of the daily papers, and if these sales were not large it would not require many months to show a balance on the wrong side of the ledger. We will venture to say there is not a well established newspaper in the city which would not willingly return to a "peace footing," though people do imagine they are making "lots of money."

A NEW EMBELLISHMENT.—The war has been fruitful in pictorial embellishments. Ingenuity has been taxed to the utmost to devise something illustrative of patriotism or reprehensive of treason. Occasionally there is a broad or a quiet vein of humor, which relieves the multitude of devices of a sanguinary or a patriotic character. The Free Democrat notices one of this latter. kind, which was displayed on a letter envel. ope passing through the post office in Milwankee. It represents a negro driver with whip in liand, raised to a position for striking, while a short distance off stands the looming battlements of Fortress Monroe, to which a number of the darkies are making double-quick time. One of them, however, has turned around, and with his thumb on the end of his nose, and the fingers extended toward the secessioner, is replying to his command of-"Come back here you black rascal "Can't come back, no how, massa ; dischile's contrabani."

THE FOURTH OF JULY .- The board of councilmen of New York have appropriated $8,000 for the celebration of the Fourth of July, and appointed a committee of arrangements. We don't expect more than half that sum from Janesville.

necessary in that event. The yellow fever has made its appearance in New Orleans. Its appearance at received to fill the complement (101 rank this early day in the season is, doubtless, a pretty sure indication of a more than usually malignant form of this dread destrover.

In this event, he offers in behalf of the authorities of Hayti, to provide them with free farms avoid imprisonment as hostages for the safe on their arrival.

Saratoga.-The hotels at this watering place are now being put in a condition for business, and will be opened on the 15th inst., in their usual style. Letters are being received ordering rooms, in about the same proportion as usual, and the landlords feel encouraged to expect a very fair season's business.

PREPARATIONS FOR DEFENCE IN THE BRITISH PROVINCES.—The Montreal Ga- coroner proceeds to inflict post morten zette says the citadel of Quebec is being rapidly placed in an efficient condition of defence. During the last week 7,000 barrels of gunpowder were landed at the ordnance wharf, a number of furnaces for { heating shot, and furnaces for supplying shell with molten iron. New works are also in process of construction. Among the purchases made here recently for the purpose were two thousand short lengths of chain, probably for gun carriages.

Nothing is said about it in the papers, but it is nev ertheless true.

GOOD FOR CRITTENDEN .-- It is authenti cally stated that Hon. John J. Crittenden received a dispatch last week, from a younger son—Robert, we believe—who is an officer in the U.S. army, stationed at Fort Leavenworth, couched in this language:

"I learn that brother George has resigned. For God's sake go to Washington and suppress it." Lt. Col. George Crittenden held a commission in the mounted rifles, and is in Texas. It was reported that he had resigned soon after the betraval to Texas seceders, of Col. Waite and his command .-It appears that the younger Crittenden is a loyal" chip of the old block." THAT'S So .- The Cleveland Plaindealer says, in regard to Judge Taney's protest:

SIXTY THOUSAND POUNDS OF FOWDER FAMILY GROCERIES! N E VV ID E ATE Seized.-The Baltimore Sun gives following particulars of the seizure of powder belonging to the rebels, mentioned in our telegraphic dispatches recently:

Yesterday morning a demand was serv ed upon Messrs. Daniel J. Foley & Bro., Lower Canton, by Mr. Bonifant, the U. S. marshal, acting under instructions from Mr. Cameron, secretary of war, calling for the immediate delivery into the possession of the marshal of all the powder of the Hazard Powder Company, in Connecticut, stored in the powder house of the company at Lower Canton, and for whom Messrs. Foley & Bro. were the agents. The amount of powder on hand was about three thouinventory of the same, though it was not removed.

" About the same hour a similar demand emanating from the same source, was made upon Messrs. A. L. Webb & Bro., Lower Canton, agents for DuPonts powder works, in Delaware. The demand was complied with, and the powder on hand, only a small amount, turned over into possession of the United States ?

Business is said to be absolutely dead at Richmond. The slaves are, as the masters say, eating their own heads off. The reign of terror is complete. Union men are figing as speedily as possible, in order to return of rebels captured by our government. Altogether, the rose-colored visions of the secessionists have faded into a dis al brown, not to say awful blue. - Cor. N.

His stomach is removed for chemical inspection and never brought back again. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few quals, and no superiors.
